IF AN ISSUE FEE HAS PREVIOUSLY BEEN PAID IN THIS APPLICATION (AS SHOWN ABOVE), THE RETURN OF PART B OF THIS FORM WILL BE CONSIDERED A REQUEST TO REAPPLY THE PREVIOUSLY PAID ISSUE FEE TOWARD THE ISSUE FEE NOW DUE.

HOW TO REPLY TO THIS NOTICE:

I. Review the SMALL ENTITY status shown above.

If the SMALL ENTITY is shown as YES, verify your current SMALL ENTITY status:

A. If the status is the same, pay the TOTAL FEE(S) DUE shown above.

B. If the status above is to be removed, check box 5b on Part B - Fee(s) Transmittal and pay the PUBLICATION FEE (if required) and twice the amount of the ISSUE FEE shown above, or

EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Steve Solomon on May 14, 2008.

The application has been amended as follows:

Claim 1 is amended to read:

A hydrogen storage and delivery system comprising a liquid hydrogen storage vessel in the shape of a hollow toroid having an interior surface that defines a hydrogen storage volume of the storage vessel, substantially vertically oriented orifice pulse tube refrigerator extending in a void space that is defined by said toroidal storage vessel and is located at the geometric center thereof, and a cooling system coupled to the orifice pulse tube refrigerator, said cooling system being adapted to counteract or abate heat transfer to the storage vessel from the ambient environment, -and wherein no cold heat exchanger of said orifice pulse tube refrigerator penetrates the liquid hydrogen storage vessel.

Claim 2 is canceled.

All remaining dependent claims (claims 3-21, 23-44, 47-55) are amended to begin with --The-- rather than "A".

Reasons for Allowance

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Garnier (ICC-2000) teaches a toroidal storage volume capable of holding hydrogen and a cooling system. Garnier (ICC-2000) does not teach a vertically oriented orifice pulse tube refrigerator (OPTR) to provide cooling to the cooling system. Further, Though Royal (US 6,430,938) and Wang (p. 857-863) teach orifice pulse tube refrigerators for cooling cryogenic fluid. There is no motivation either in the references themselves or in the general state of the art, at the time the invention was made, to employ an OPTR to cool the cooling system taught by Garnier by positioning the OPTR in the void space of the torodial storage vessel. Cryogenic fluids are employed by Garnier to supply refrigeration to the cooling system and toroidal storage volume as the storage vessel and the cooling system of Garnier are designed to be operated in a laboratory for levitation experiments. Those of ordinary skill in the art, at the time the invention was made, would not be motivated to replace the cryogenic fluids of Garnier with a cryogenic refrigerator, such as an OPTR as claimed, as the extra mass of the refrigerator and the components connecting the refrigerator to a compressor or pressure wave generating device would complicate the ability of the system to perform the desired levitation experiments, and this complexity and cost would not allow any clear advantage over readily available, cheap, and non-interfering cryogenic liquids for which the system of Garnier was designed to operate with. The only reason to expend the cost and complexity of adding a refrigerator is to allow the system to operate without refilling refrigerant; which advantage is entirely un-necessary for research device in a laboratory. Therefore, arguments that such modification has been performed in other cases, are not applicable to this situation, and are inappropriate.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
